

WADAIKO in SCHOOLS

One of the most exciting and vibrant elements of traditional Japanese culture comes to life in Toshi Sakamoto's explosive presentations.

Choose between the SCHOOL SHOW or WORKSHOPS or a combination of the two to enthrall and enlighten your students with Japanese language content, plenty of student participation mixed with significant historical and cultural information.

Vocab lists and information sheets are provided for preparation and follow up activities.

WORKSHOPS are 30 – 40 mins each, depending on period length and class change-over times. They include a short demonstration, an explanation of the drums and their history and the opportunity for the students to play the drums themselves. Every student in groups of up to 30 will have the chance to play. Larger groups are possible but limit the “hands-on” aspect of the workshops. His workshops can start with a 10 – 15 minute whole school performance.
